Text Message Excerpts-¹

Conversation between Tori and Peter Bright

PETER: Hi there. You're very cute.

TORI: DD/lg huh? I'm into that.

PETER: You just got even cuter. So I'd prefer, and am ideally looking for, someone to have more of an ongoing thing. It could be dating and a relationship, it could be play partners, FWB, or some combination... just not a one off, if at all possible. What kind of thing are you looking for?

TORI: I like ongoing for things like kink.

PETER: Cool. I think it's necessary for the trust and understanding.

TORI: What kind of DD/lg turns you on? I mostly like being told what to do and cherished in ways where I feel controlled but also cared for. I like bondage and spankings, but like, when it feels like it is also to turn me on.

PETER: It depends a bit on your little age.

TORI: I've played anywhere from baby to teen. For me it's less about the age play honestly than the way that age play lends itself to a caring sort of power play.

PETER: For sure. So a baby might include changing your wet diaper, giving you're your pacifier, dressing you appropriately. Older ages, you'll order from the kid's menu when we go out, you'll have to get my approval for what you wear, you can get bedtime stories... but if you're bad, you might get a spanking, or told to write lines, you playing with stuffed animals, colouring books, etc. And if you want sex as a little.... I like scenarios such as you're 11-12, your body is developing, and daddy comes into your room to show you how to touch yourself, show you how to touch him, so that you can be his special girl. Both nurturing and corrupting at the same time. Though turning it around is also hot... I'm coming in to say good night, and you're acting flirty, trying to get me to touch you, and I say no, I mustn't, it's not right... But you want it so much and when you bat your eyelids at me.... how could I refuse? But I'm very open to other angles; things you've done in the past to explore the power dynamic.

TORI: Okay. Yes, I'm into all of this and I appreciate that you were able to articulate all of it. Let's do this together. Maybe start as baby and work our way up to sex age? Would that be fun?

PETER: Oooh, yeah, I think it could be.

TORI: So I like it a lot. I want you to diaper me. Sit me on your lap in diapers and a paci tied in my mouth.

PETER: And as you get a bit older, if you start acting out, I can tell you that if you're going to act like a baby I'm going to treat you like one; no more big girl pants, back into the diapers.

TORI: Omg yess Daddy. I like it as punishment. Pouting in diapers until I apologize. You're fun.

PETER: Yes, exactly. Cool. So can you tell me more about yourself? I don't even know your name!

TORI: I'm Tori. 30's trans girl. Been on hormones and living as a woman for a long while.

PETER: Victoria shortened to Tori? Or just Tori?

TORI: Just Tori.

PETER: That's a shame, no using your full name to scold you! Oh my.

....

PETER: It's very nerdy stuff, if you care it's at <https://arstechnica.com/author/peter-bright/>

So I suppose one important question is, in the grand scheme of things, what are you looking for? Just a play partner? Dating, a relationship? Something else?

TORI: Play partner. If you are married, I kind of have boundaries around that.

PETER: You don't want to get too emotionally involved in someone who can't be 100% for you?

TORI: I don't have issues about it, but I'm not inexperienced with married men and it's better for me to have those boundaries at the beginning then to feel hurt and put them up. Like. I won't be cold or distant. I'll be fun, but no, I don't want to rely on someone who can't be there for me.

PETER: I see. That's fair. I'm not going to harp on about it because I respect that you've been hurt and I know that sucks, but I will say I'm receptive to more than play partners should things work out that way.

TORI: The more caring you are the more I will give back emotionally. And genuine affection and friendship is part of play partners for me.

PETER: And even as a play partner, you're a living, thinking, feeling human being, and I won't ever treat you as anything less.

TORI: I appreciate that.

Conversation between Rachel Birnbaum and Peter Bright

PETER: Age play can be hot.

RACHEL BIRNBAUM: YES. Tell me more!

PETER: So a couple of scenarios... Little girl about the age her body is developing, daddy enters her room, tells her that she's becoming a woman, and guides her both in how to use her own body, and how to please his. Something very gentle and nurturing, but also dirty and corrupting.

RACHEL BIRNBAUM: That sounds fun!

PETER: Or a kind of reversal... reading a bedtime story and she puts her hand between my legs. Acts as the temptress. I tell her no, we shouldn't, it's wrong, but she insists..... What about you? Any particular interests?

RACHEL BIRNBAUM: That also sounds fun!

PETER: That puts a big smile on my face.
